

The World
Published by the Press Publishing Company,
25 to 27 PARK ROW, New York.
FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1924.
SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE EVENING WORLD
(including postage):
PER MONTH $2.00
PER YEAR $24.00
Vol. 84, No. 11,945
Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class matter.
435 BRANCH OFFICES:
WORLD UPTOWN OFFICE—Junction of Broadway and 125th St., at 125th St.
WORLD HARLEM OFFICE—125th St. and Madison Ave.
BROOKLYN—299 Washington St.
PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Inquirer Office, 229 Chestnut St.
WASHINGTON—101 14th St.

The World's Circulation OVER 3,000,000 A WEEK.

All Kings County is now to be one queen city.

The mystery of Martha Fuller's death is still complete.

Greater Brooklyn is a fine city. She will be a pride of Greater New York.

Coxeyites may cut an interesting figure in New York. But Coxeyism cuts only a big O.

What is the sure thing that you have played so successfully, Mr. Croker? Do you dare to tell?

Putting his name to those reform bills Gov. Flower will give the sign by which the better New York hopes to conquer.

The Mayor's Power of Removal bill proposed to give the people their opportunity to remove a corrupt Tammany from power.

Do you read the Baseball Extra of "The Evening World"? It has all the sporting news, besides full reports of the ball games.

The cranks are ready enough to support baseball in New York. It's the players who are doing mischief to the game at present.

Croker will come under the decree of banishment contained in the Mayor's Power of Removal bill. Will you stand in the way of it, Governor?

Last night's Baseball Extra of "The Evening World" had all that story of the Jockey Club Trust, which is the great topic of the day in sporting circles.

"Elephant Tip on his good behavior." Yes, till he sees an opening for the addition of No. 9 to his list of dead men. He is too confirmed a man-killer to reform.

The Constitutional Convention begins its sessions next Tuesday. What is this assemblage going to do for the permanent good of municipal government in the State?

Senators who make their little lumps in sugar right along think they need not mind the impatience of ordinary outside people. It is a mistake very easy to make.

Lord Salisbury is right in his belief that the British have many friends in America. But he won't increase the number by continuing his indiscriminate assaults on the Irish in America.

Gov. Flower signed seventy bills yesterday. The New York reform bills, however, are the ones that will do the most good. He ought to be still more convincingly impressed on his present trip.

Mr. Croker was not satisfied with his first discovery made some months ago, of how small a Democrat he is at Washington. He ought to be still more convincingly impressed on his present trip.

After the gloomy stories of the cruiser New York's defects and the battle-ship Texas's possible worthlessness, it is cheering to receive the report that with the new cruiser Marblehead, at least, there is no fault.

If Gov. Flower doesn't sign the Mayor's Power of Removal bill, the next Governor will have to, and it will still be in time to affect the next Mayor of New York. Gov. Flower should be glad of the chance to establish this reform measure himself.

Fitzgerald's Coxeyites have a demand, in their petition to Congress, that the Constitution shall be so amended as to provide for every citizen the right to employment. "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" are already guaranteed, but it is very likely that in the Coxeyite calendar no one of these rights has any direct connection with the idea of work.

New York's business men made, in last night's rally at Cooper Union, an appeal and a demand for immediate action on the tariff which the United States Senate will do well to heed. The men who spoke at that meeting were among those who have guiding hands in the great business affairs of the country. They know, in practical ways, what the nation needs and what is the trouble with the commerce and industry of the land. They know that it is uncertainty, which, sooner than any other influence, will again clog the wheels which force of trade circumstance is temporarily starting again. They know that unless taken advantage of at this favorable moment the tide of returning prosperity now setting in will not last and will produce no permanent results. The call of the hour is for action.

A STATE BETRAYED.

The Democratic Senators were nearly unanimous yesterday in their caucus looking to the advancement of the Tariff bill and in early passage in a compromise shape. The single exception was found in Senator Hill, whose solitary "nay" was recorded against the resolution to introduce amendments only through the Finance Committee. Senator Murphree was absent from the caucus. Whether his absence was induced by Mr. Croker is not known. But it is certain that he was out driving with the Tammany boss while this most important meeting of the Democratic Senators was being held. Thus the Empire State was throttled at Washington when the question of the relief of the business of the nation from its paralysis and the rescue of labor from its suffering was under discussion. This betrayal of the State by its representatives in the United States Senate, this treachery to the more marked by the fact that at the same moment the voices of the most prominent Democrats in New York were raised at a great meeting in this city demanding prompt and favorable action by the Senate in tariff reform. New York Senator voting against the interests of the nation and the other junketing with a Tammany politician while Rome is burning. What a spectacle for the Empire State!

MODEST REQUESTS.

New York has its share of the "army" yesterday. The visitors came from New Haven by boat, having mustered enough money to pay their fares. They were not allowed to parade the streets, but proceeded to the headquarters of the People's party and sat down to a banquet of frankfurters and beer.

It is significant that these New Englanders, about sixty in number, repudiate any connection with Croker. They go to Washington, they say, to petition Congress on their own account. They are not there to establish a Government of Government farms and factories where the unemployed may now and at all times be supplied with work; for a constitutional amendment affirming the right of every citizen to have work; for the abolition of interest on bonds; for the construction of good roads; for National control of railroads, telegraphs and mines; for the cultivation of all land not in use, and for nationalizing trusts.

The visitors and their friends meet at Germania Hall to-night to discuss this platform. It may be enlarged by requiring Congress to supply every citizen with good food, and the right to work. But it is to be feared there may be as much difficulty in getting Congress to act upon it as there is to make the Senate vote on tariff reform.

GOOD SENSE.

Mr. Gladstone's successor has been making a speech at Manchester, and has said some sensible things. Lord Rosebery is a typical Englishman and a member of the House of Lords. He probably has many insular prejudices, as usually distinguish Englishmen, but he differs from a large number of his countrymen in progressing with the times and not remaining stationary while the world moves.

Lord Rosebery declares that his confidence in the success of Home Rule is the result of his conviction that in this day of advanced intelligence old prejudices and errors are bound to die out. The English people, he believes, will soon be willing to concede justice to Ireland.

JOHN BURNS'S FAR-OFF BLACK EYE.

John Burns, M. P., of London, has a black eye. It is a black eye, and it is not a black eye. It is a black eye, and it is not a black eye. It is a black eye, and it is not a black eye.

Senators who make their little lumps in sugar right along think they need not mind the impatience of ordinary outside people. It is a mistake very easy to make.

Lord Salisbury is right in his belief that the British have many friends in America. But he won't increase the number by continuing his indiscriminate assaults on the Irish in America.

Gov. Flower signed seventy bills yesterday. The New York reform bills, however, are the ones that will do the most good. He ought to be still more convincingly impressed on his present trip.

Mr. Croker was not satisfied with his first discovery made some months ago, of how small a Democrat he is at Washington. He ought to be still more convincingly impressed on his present trip.

After the gloomy stories of the cruiser New York's defects and the battle-ship Texas's possible worthlessness, it is cheering to receive the report that with the new cruiser Marblehead, at least, there is no fault.

If Gov. Flower doesn't sign the Mayor's Power of Removal bill, the next Governor will have to, and it will still be in time to affect the next Mayor of New York. Gov. Flower should be glad of the chance to establish this reform measure himself.

Fitzgerald's Coxeyites have a demand, in their petition to Congress, that the Constitution shall be so amended as to provide for every citizen the right to employment. "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" are already guaranteed, but it is very likely that in the Coxeyite calendar no one of these rights has any direct connection with the idea of work.

New York's business men made, in last night's rally at Cooper Union, an appeal and a demand for immediate action on the tariff which the United States Senate will do well to heed. The men who spoke at that meeting were among those who have guiding hands in the great business affairs of the country. They know, in practical ways, what the nation needs and what is the trouble with the commerce and industry of the land. They know that it is uncertainty, which, sooner than any other influence, will again clog the wheels which force of trade circumstance is temporarily starting again. They know that unless taken advantage of at this favorable moment the tide of returning prosperity now setting in will not last and will produce no permanent results. The call of the hour is for action.

PASSED TWO ICEBERGS.

Norwegian Passengers Treated to the Sight of Fjeld Mountains. Icebergs are still floating around in the courts of the big icebergs. Captain Barens, of the steamship Norrmanna, which arrived at the bar at 5:30 o'clock this morning reports that he met two large icebergs. They were monsters, with large peaks. He encountered them just off the coast on May 1, in latitude 43.30, longitude 43.30. Among the Norrmanna's passengers were S. S. McCullough, Lieut. Potts, L. S. N., and Mrs. Potts. Captain Barens completed his first voyage as commander of the Norrmanna. The saloon passengers gave him a banquet last evening to commemorate his one hundredth round voyage across the North Atlantic. Capt. Heibich, formerly of the Norrmanna, has been appointed Superintendent of the Hamburg-American Company in Stettin. Capt. Barens, previous to taking command of the Norrmanna, was in charge of the Augusta Victoria.

LOVELY ARBOR DAY.

School Children All Over the State Observe the Occasion.

Trees Are Being Planted Where It Is Possible to Do So.

Appropriate Exercises in All the Schools of the City.

This is a lovely Arbor Day, and the public schools all over the State are celebrating the occasion by appropriate exercises in their schoolrooms, and, where the opportunity is offered, by the planting of young trees and shrubs. The schools boys and girls of New York City are taking just as much interest in the annual celebration of Arbor Day as if they lived out in the country and were surrounded by the green fields and woods blooming with wild flowers. Although they cannot plant trees or indulge in the out-of-door ceremonies which make the day so suggestive and full of interest to the children of the villages and country towns of the State, their minds are perhaps all the more deeply impressed with the significance of exercises in which they are participating indoors. It is true that in the upper part of the city, across the Harlem River, where there is still a considerable tract of undeveloped land, the planting of trees forms a part of the programme of the day in the public schools. Supt. Jasper said this morning that the planting of trees in the city is a very important feature of the day. He said that the planting of trees in the city is a very important feature of the day. He said that the planting of trees in the city is a very important feature of the day.

Supt. Jasper said this morning that the planting of trees in the city is a very important feature of the day. He said that the planting of trees in the city is a very important feature of the day. He said that the planting of trees in the city is a very important feature of the day.

POLICE UNDER INSPECTION.

Summer Uniforms Scanned for Spots and Wrinkles.

The annual inspection of the Summer uniforms of the Police Department began to-day. Early this morning Inspector Williams went to the Elbridge street station, where he found the station-house and the street in front of it overrun by policemen in the Summer blouses and light-weight trousers. The first platoons from all the precincts of the city were lined up in front of the station-house. Inspector Williams, who was accompanied by Supt. Jasper, went to the front of the line and looked at the uniforms. He said that the uniforms were in good shape, but that they needed some mending.

FERRY SALE AGAIN FIXED.

State Island and Bay Ridge Franchises to Be Sold May 10.

The upset price for the State Island ferry lease is $4,000 and 5 per cent. of the gross receipts. The Bay Ridge ferry lease is fixed at $5,000 and 5 per cent. of the gross receipts. The lessees will also have to pay $3,000 a year to the lessees of the State Island ferry for the use of its wharf and ferry slip.

CHINESE TO BE SENT BACK.

Secretary Gresham Will Be Asked to Pay the Passage.

Judge Lacombe, of the United States Circuit Court, to-day ordered Marshal Jacobus to detain several Chinese, who are on their way to Cuba, until they can be sent back to China. The Chinese are being detained because they are not in possession of valid passports. The Marshal is being asked to pay the passage of the Chinese back to China.

TEXAS TREASURY IS EMPTY.

Long Star State May Not Be Able to Pay Bond Interest.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 4.—The Treasury of Texas to-day declared itself empty. The State has no money to pay the interest on its bonds. The State is in a financial crisis. The Governor is asking for help from the Federal Government.

JOINED LEAGUE, NOT ARMY.

Bishop Tuttle Not a Full-Fledged Salvationist.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 4.—The announcement by Mrs. Hallington Booth, at the Midland Congress of the Salvation Army, that Bishop D. S. Tuttle, of the Missouri diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, had joined the Army, created considerable excitement. It seems, however, that the Bishop has not joined the Army proper, but only the "Civilian" branch, the "Salvation Army Auxiliary League."

DEATH AT A HOTEL FIRE.

Woman Loses Life and Others Have Close Calls at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 4.—The Glen House, situated on the Genesee River, below the Lower Falls, was totally destroyed by fire this morning. Mrs. Mary McInerney, aged twenty-eight, was killed. Several others were injured. The fire started in the kitchen and spread rapidly.

ONE KILLED, EIGHT HURT.

Unfinished Building at Park Ridge, Ill., Blown Down.

PARK RIDGE, Ill., May 4.—A heavy wind storm struck an unfinished building in this town, and eight other people were killed. The building was a schoolhouse. The wind was from the west and reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour.

MR. COGHLAN'S "CHECKBOOK."

Story of the Play His Sister Rose Will Produce Monday Night.

Vesta Tilley at Tony Pastor's Is the Vaudeville Sensation.

At Hoyt's Madison Square Theatre Miss Rose Coghlan begins her Spring and Summer season on Tuesday evening next, presenting Charles Coghlan's farcical comedy "The Checkbook," in which his sister Rose will appear, and which tells the story of Tom Pringle, a dashing young fellow who has married a far-away cousin because she has money. Imagining that he can get any amount he wishes, he finds himself placed upon an allowance, his wife, Lottie, paying him that allowance regularly by means of a check, from which episode the play takes its name. Col. and Mrs. Simcox, both Americans and friends of the Pringles, are living in the same hotel. Mrs. Simcox has married the Colonel because he has money and she finds herself in the same predicament as Tom Pringle. Through this association, Tom Pringle and Mrs. Simcox, and the main and most amusing complication of the play, is the hopelessness of the Pringles into which the play has been changed because of the success of "The Checkbook." The title "The Checkbook" is a play on the word "checkbook," which is a book in which a person keeps a record of his checks. The play is a comedy and is expected to be a success.

Vesta Tilley is the vaudeville sensation just now. She has made a tremendous hit at Tony Pastor's. Her work is in the variety stage. And she is not only an artist, she is exceedingly good-natured, and with each making a change of costume. The new descriptive ballet, "Half-dressed," which she is presenting, is only drawing large audiences, which includes many female specialty performers. She is a very popular singer, and she has achieved the distinction of having a woman's hat named after her. The Vesta Tilley is a "sailor" with wide silk band and silk trimming on the edges. It is a very nice dress, and it is expected to be a success.

SCARED THE BOARDERS.

Some One Cried Murder When a Ceiling Fell.

Considerable excitement was caused just after 5 o'clock this morning in the boarding-house of Mrs. Kate Bird, at 193 Second avenue, by the ceiling of Mrs. Bird's room falling. A young man, whose room is on the third floor, near Mrs. Bird's, hearing the cry that some one had been murdered, rushed to the scene. He found Mrs. Bird lying on the floor, and he called for help. The ambulance arrived at the scene, and the woman was taken to the hospital. The cause of the accident is not known.

FIRE ON A SAILING SHIP.

Slight Blaze Quickly Put Out on the H. Blachoff.

At 6:06 o'clock this morning a small fire was discovered in the hold of the four-masted sailing vessel H. Blachoff, which is tied up just north of the Central Vermont Railroad pier, 36 East River. The fire started in the hold, and it was quickly put out by the crew. The cause of the fire is not known.

LOOKING FOR GOLDHORN.

His Accounts Are Said to Be Short $20,000.

Ludwig B. Goldhorn is making it lively for police and detectives in many cities. Up to April 19 he was employed as a bookkeeper by the Mannheim Marine Insurance Company at their New York agency at 77 Beaver street. On that date he disappeared, and his accounts show an apparent shortage of $20,000. It is also stated that the police hold possession of two letters which were drawn up by the New York manager, James J. O'Connell, and signed with the name of the New York manager, James J. O'Connell.

THREE DROWNED AT KEOKUK.

Man and Two Young Women Went Rowing in a Skiff.

KEOKUK, Ia., May 4.—Richard Thompson, aged twenty-eight; Carrie McKibben, aged twenty-six, and Hannah McKibben, aged twenty, went rowing in a skiff Wednesday night and were drowned. Their boat was found floating upside down. The bodies have not been recovered.

PAKIC AT A SCHOOL FIRE.

Ypsilanti Children Hurt in Escaping from a Burning Building.

YPSILANTI, Mich., May 4.—The Union School Building burned while the school was in session yesterday afternoon. The pupils jumped from the windows, and many of them were hurt. The fire started in the kitchen and spread rapidly. The cause of the fire is not known.

DEATH AT A HOTEL FIRE.

Woman Loses Life and Others Have Close Calls at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 4.—The Glen House, situated on the Genesee River, below the Lower Falls, was totally destroyed by fire this morning. Mrs. Mary McInerney, aged twenty-eight, was killed. Several others were injured. The fire started in the kitchen and spread rapidly.

ONE KILLED, EIGHT HURT.

Unfinished Building at Park Ridge, Ill., Blown Down.

PARK RIDGE, Ill., May 4.—A heavy wind storm struck an unfinished building in this town, and eight other people were killed. The building was a schoolhouse. The wind was from the west and reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour.

BOY'S NECK BROKEN.

He Fell Forty Feet from an Elevator and Was Killed.

Tried to Leap from a Car While It Was in Motion.

Conductor Caught Him by the Leg but Had to Let Go.

An unknown boy, about fifteen years old, not a sudden and frightful death at 21 Mercer street at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The boy approached the street entrance to the express elevator with a bundle containing three coats on his shoulder, and told Elevator Conductor David Meyer that he wished to go upstairs. The boy did not know the name of the firm to whom the coats belonged, but Meyer surmised that the coats were for B. Light & Co., who occupy the fifth and sixth floors as a clothing manufactory. The elevator started up with the boy and another passenger. Meyer stopped the car at the second floor for the other passenger, and the boy stepped off also. "Here, that isn't where you want to go, I'll tell you where to get off," cried the elevator man. The boy did not get out of the car again, and just as it was passing the third floor he threw his bundle to the landing and jumped after it. Meyer reached for him and caught him by the foot, holding him suspended under the car, which was still in motion. Meyer saw at once that the boy would be crushed if he clung to him, so he released his hold, and the boy fell headlong to the basement, a distance of about forty feet. His neck was broken and his skull was crushed. Death was instantaneous. The body was removed to the Mercer street police station and the coroner notified. The police do not attach any blame to the elevator man.

W. Natelson, a tailor, of 103 Cook street, Williamsburg, whose name was on the bundle of coats, was telegraphed for. He came over at once and identified the coats as his. He said that he knew the boy simply as "Joe."

COMPLEXION VILLA.

The "complexion villa" is a novelty of pale pink Russian silk sprinkled with blue spots and delicately perfumed. It is very becoming to pale blondes, and there is nothing so pretty as the regulation black-dotted net.

DRY HAIR MADE GLOSSY.

The use of oils on the hair has gone out of fashion, but there are many persons to whom something of the sort is almost a necessity. The hair becomes so dry that its beauty is gone, and in addition it is so badly nourished that it loses its strength and lustre. In such cases a little fine oil is the proper remedy. Those who have very dry and rough hair, especially if subject to pain and feverishness in the head, will do well to try some softening application, at least as an experiment. One ounce of glycerine to a pint of rose water.

LETTERS.

[This column is open to everybody who has a complaint to make, a grievance to ventilate, information to give, a subject of general interest to discuss or a public service to acknowledge, and who can put the lines into less than 100 words. Long letters cannot be printed.]

DOUBLE-DECKED CARS.

In further discussion of this subject and in further defense of S. Waldeck, but not in answer to American-European, who seems unable to discuss matters without calling people liars, I may say that in Engineering, an English paper, Nov. 15, 1922, page 459, a "car locomotive" is shown in a picture. This is a double-decker. In the same journal, Oct. 2, 1923, page 391, will be found a cut of "underframes for two-storied railway cars, Eastern Railway of France." In Vol. III, same journal, page 107, will be found a cut of a two-storied carriage for the Eastern Railway of France. On page 103, same volume, is a cut of the double-deck viaduct, similar to the one which trains of double-deck cars pass over, on the way to Versailles. The fact is that such a system has been in use in France for at least twenty-seven years, and is in use now. I saw them and rode in them, with my wife, brother and sister-in-law, in 1917, and could produce a long list of friends and relatives who have been in them since that time. "American" and "American-European" have been there; perhaps they have, but that they did not see a thing does not prove its non-existence; it only proves their want of observation. They might see an Egyptian mummy case and not see that it had calculations of weight upon it from the year 1606 B. C. down to 1875 A. D., but that would not prove that the calculations are not there. It would only show that their line of study has not been any more astronomical than it appears to have been. Whatever "American" and "American-European" may continue to think, "S. Waldeck" and the undersigned (and we think the general reader will know that two-storied cars exist in France).

CIVIL AND MECHANICAL ENGINEER.

WOMEN BUTCHERS IN BROOKLYN.

It Goes In Brooklyn.

To the Editor: In reply to Mr. Dobbin's question, "Who got the difference between the wages of a printer in New York and the wages of a printer in London?" I have to say that the difference is not in the wages, but in the cost of living. In New York, the cost of living is higher than in London, and therefore the wages are higher. I have often discussed whether I get the whole or not. My opinion is that where all land which can be used for the kind of printing does is taken up, either by one or more "friendly" printers, or by one or more "unfriendly" printers. However, there is still some land which can be used by the printer without rent, he gets, in my opinion, a share of his increased wages. Is this right? This opinion, I mean. Of course it is just one opinion, and it is not the opinion of the community which pays the rent, and they appear to be as well satisfied as the landlords are. BOLTON HALL.

DRUG CLERKS AND THEIR GIRLS.

To the Editor: May B. has said that drug clerks are very conceited. Some clerk must have given her the shake. All the drug clerks would be dead or in a lunatic asylum if they went with every girl that tries to catch the eye of a clerk. There is no such thing as a free lunch. No, I think I ought to get a postage stamp or something of that sort. Not because you need it, but just to stir with the clerk. ONE OF THE SO-CALLED CONCRETE DRUG CLERKS. BAYONA, N. J.

ENGLISH IN INDIA.

To the Editor: In answer to the inquiry by "A Member of the English Phonetic Society" I desire to say that in my extensive travels through Great Britain and the colonies I have found the best and purest English to be spoken in Madras and Calcutta. And, strange to say, by the natives, who received their training from English masters with all imaginable "localization" and "accent."

ENGLISH IN INDIA.

To the Editor: In answer to the inquiry by "A Member of the English Phonetic Society" I desire to say that in my extensive travels through Great Britain and the colonies I have found the best and purest English to be spoken in Madras and Calcutta. And, strange to say, by the natives, who received their training from English masters with all imaginable "localization" and "accent."

HOUSE AND HOME.

Girlish Outfit. If there is a girly-girl in the family, get her a navy-blue or nut-brown twilled flannel dress, plain and a 3-button blazer, which will cost from $8 to $15, according to the materials and place of purchase. Make a blouse waist of polka-dotted white.

Dressing for Cold Slaw.

Beat the yolks of three eggs with two table-spoonsful of white sugar, add five table-spoonsful of elder vinegar, half a teaspoonful of mustard, mix and set over the fire; add half a teaspoonful of butter and stir until it is a smooth paste, then set off to cool. See that it is cold before using. When ready to serve the cold slaw pour over it the dressing and mix. Hard-boiled eggs sliced and laid on top improve the salad.

Home Sewing.

A little care and attention to dainty dresses now will add beauty and perhaps another gown to our wardrobe this Summer. The little narrow ribbons which enhance the beauty of flimsy summery things, but consume so much of a modiste's time in sewing them on, might be added to the flounces by the dainty fingers of her who is to wear them.

Short fancy waists are not beyond the compass of a girl of ordinary intelligence, and one cannot have too many of them. The material for these may be purchased very cheap if you watch the pretty soft silks on the bargain counter. A remnant of six yards at 25 cents is a good investment, for it will make a useful and pretty waist, with sleeveless bodice, the most attractive device to 1920 styles could. Once have a lining fitted by your dressmaker and you can easily make your own silk waist.

A Rosolis View.

A distinguished member of Rosolis is not worrying about the influence of the lower class of women in politics. "They won't want to vote," she says. "It is the best class of women, and the better class of women who are in this movement." By the best class she meant "the society woman;" by the better class, "women who make speeches at the spots, and are the most ardent of the lower class, she bunched all the women who are not in society, of the suffrage ranks. This is hard on wives, mothers, teachers, actresses, trained nurses and professional women generally.

Individuality in Dress.

A Philadelphia bachelor of recognized taste said the other day: "I do like a woman who sticks to one or two becoming dresses. She and her dress then become identified with each other, and one gets a distinct idea of a girl in one's mind. But she who changes her dress and another in yellow and the next in red, the individuality of the wearer is quite subservient to that of the gown, and at least as an experiment. One ounce of glycerine to a pint of rose water.

LETTERS.

[This column is open to everybody who has a complaint to make, a grievance to ventilate, information to give, a subject of general interest to discuss or a public service to acknowledge, and who can put the lines into less than 100 words. Long letters cannot be printed.]

DOUBLE-DECKED CARS.

In further discussion of this subject and in further defense of S. Waldeck, but not in answer to American-European, who seems unable to discuss matters without calling people liars, I may say that in Engineering, an English paper, Nov. 15, 1922, page 459, a "car locomotive" is shown in a picture. This is a double-decker. In the same journal, Oct. 2, 1923, page 391, will be found a cut of "underframes for two-storied railway cars, Eastern Railway of France." In Vol. III, same journal, page 107, will be found a cut of a two-storied carriage for the Eastern Railway of France. On page 103, same volume, is a cut of the double-deck viaduct, similar to the one which trains of double-deck cars pass over, on the way to Versailles. The fact is that such a system has been in use in France for at least twenty-seven years, and is in use now. I saw them and rode in them, with my wife, brother and sister-in-law, in 1917, and could produce a long list of friends and relatives who have been in them since that time. "American" and "American-European" have been there; perhaps they have, but that they did not see a thing does not prove its non-existence; it only proves their want of observation. They might see an Egyptian mummy case and not see that it had calculations of weight upon it from the year 1606 B. C. down to 1875 A. D., but that would not prove that the calculations are not there. It would only show that their line of study has not been any more astronomical than it appears to have been. Whatever "American" and "American-European" may continue to think, "S. Waldeck" and the undersigned (and we think the general reader will know that two-storied cars exist in France).

CIVIL AND MECHANICAL ENGINEER.

WOMEN BUTCHERS IN BROOKLYN.

It Goes In Brooklyn.

To the Editor: In reply to Mr. Dobbin's question, "Who got the difference between the wages of a printer in New York and the wages of a printer in London?" I have to say that the difference is not in the wages, but in the cost of living. In New York, the cost of living is higher than in London, and therefore the wages are higher. I have often discussed whether I get the whole or not. My opinion is that where all land which can be used for the kind of printing does is taken up,